

LEARN NC

takes you around the world in multimedia

LEARN NC presents a new collection of model lesson plans for middle grades social studies teaching global education and visual literacy using photographs and audio from three continents

Built on a collection of more than 2,000 high-resolution photographs and 140 audio recordings from 10 countries, these lesson plans teach culture, history, geography, and economics while engaging students in conversations about global issues and encouraging them to think critically about media and images.

- Discover. Browse our multimedia collection to find raw materials for your own lessons, or take a virtual tour with one of our prepackaged slideshows.
- Teach. Lesson plans include detailed instructions, student handouts, rubrics for assessment, and links to additional best practices.
- Share. Lesson plans, photographs, and audio recordings are available under a Creative Commons license, so you can use them freely for teaching and learning.

Featuring the work of photographer Margery H. Freeman and lesson plans by talented educators from across North Carolina.

Learn more: <http://www.learnnc.org/lp/pages/world-cultures-mm>

LEARN NC is a program of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Education.

Funding for lesson plan development was provided by the UNC Center for Global Initiatives through a grant from the U.S. Department of Education's International Education Programs Service.

